Beaver Money. A Scrap of Oregon History.

From the Oregon Statesman, Sept. 17.

Through the politeness of Secretary May we are enabled to lay before our readers the following letter, giving the history and circumstances connected with the "beaver money" and the Oregon mint of 1849. (Not the Branch Mint now in dispute between the commercial cities of Portland and Dalles.)

OREGON CITY, Aug. 4, 1865.

Hon. Sam'l E. May, Secretary of State of Oregon—SIR: In reply to yours of the 17th ultimo requesting a history of the mint established in 1849, I give you a brief account. Upon the discovery of the gold mines and the consequent rush of miners, for nearly every man that went to California at that time became a miner, and the great demand for supplies to clothe and feed them, Oregon very naturally sent a great number of her population, together with all the supplies that she could spare from her immediate wants, receiving in return a large amount of gold dust of the most superior quality, taken from the Feather and Yuba rivers principally.

Nearly every man brought gold dust with him on his return to Oregon, and finding that a great annoyance and waste accompanied the payments of small sums in dust, was naturally anxious to dispose of a sufficiency of dust for coin to meet his demands. There being but little coin in the country at that time, caused an influx from the nearest points where it could be obtained, viz: South America; and as the debasement of the currency of nearly all the South American States was great and notorious, so much so, in fact, that upon my return from the Atlantic side in the latter part of 1847, before the gold mines were discovered, they did not hesitate to give me, during my stay in Panama, twenty-five of their nominal quarters of a dollar in exchange for a United States half eagle coin; and when you take into consideration that a very large amount of gold dust, the intrinsic value of which was between eighteen and nineteen dollars per ounce, was being daily exchanged at the rate of eleven dollars per ounce, payable in this debased South American coin at the rate of four of these nominal quarters of a dollar to the dollar, you will see at once the enormous loss Oregon was suffering—the double discount on the gold and coin.

A small party of gentlemen met at the counting room of Campbell & Smith to take the foregoing matter into consideration, and concluded, for the general benefit of the country, to form a company for the purpose of coining the dust into a shape would be of par value at any place where gold coin was used.

The names of the parties that paid for the machinery, dies, &c., and that incurred and lost the whole expenses of the transaction were Kilborne, Magruder, Taylor, Rector, Campbell & Smith.

The design of the dies was drawn by myself at the first meeting of the company, and immediately adopted as being appropriate. The tariff on goods exchanged by the Hudson Bay Company for furs (of which beaver money was the main item in Oregon,) being much less than for coin, beaver orders on the Hudson Bay Company were considered the best money in the country.

As soon as we commenced making the coin, gold dust rose to sixteen dollars per ounce, at which rate we exchanged our coin for dust when so requested.

After having issued some ten thousand dollars, and broken both of our crucibles (we had with much trouble only been able to procure two), and having effected our object, viz: Raised the price of gold dust and stopped the influx of South American currency, and every piece that we coined being at the expense of the company, we concluded to cease operations and did so.

I send you an assay made for me at the U. S. Mint at Philadelphia in 1850; the first mentioned on the memorandum was the clippings of the last coining, and the contents of our last crucible when it broke, together with some very fine Yuba dust; the second is our Oregon beaver coin, and I assure you that every coin in this assay was so abraded, that the design was almost undistinguishable, from the wear by contact with alloyed and, of course, harder coin. I also send you the dies, which, if you see proper, I would like to have deposited with the $10 piece alluded to. They were made by W. H. Rector and Hamilton Cambell in Oregon.

If you do not see proper to so dispose of the dies, please return them to me by a safe hand.

I have the honor to be, yours respectfully,

J. G. CAMPBELL.

*The designs on the coins, eagles and half eagles were as follows: On the eagles, "Oregon Exchange Company," on the margin, and "10 D. 20 C. Native Gold Ten D." across the face, and on the reverse side, the letters "K. M. T. R. C. S." (initial letters of the bankers) and "O. T. (for the Territory) 1849" on the margin, and the figure of a beaver in the centre. On the half eagle, the same as on the first side of the eagle, with the exception of 5 D. instead of 10 D., and also 130c instead of 20c., and on the reverse side, the same as the reverse side of the eagle, except that the letter "A" appears among the initial letters on the margin, which is supposed to represent Gov. Abernethy.

The Umatilla Advertiser of the 15th has the following items:

In addition to the trains already reported from Umatilla to the Blackfoot mines, we give Wilson Bros., leaving to-day with 21,000 pounds assorted merchandise, on a train of sixty-five animals. Frazier with a train of 36 packs left yesterday, and Elsenburg & Co., with 30 packs, same day. C. O. Fanning, loads 30 packs to-day for the same destination. The goods were all purchased in this market, and it is unnecessary to say that Umatilla has a great advantage over any other point on the river for supplying goods to go to Montana. Everything in demand is abundant in supply, at prices which leaves no chance for traders to make anything by going below, and the lateness of the season, together with the length of the trip, will require that no time be lost by those who would make the trip at a favorable time. All accounts from the Montana agree in one respect, and that is the prices are high for all kinds of goods, and the supply short. The failure of a steamer to ascend to Fort Benton, leaves a large population, 20,000 or more, to be provided for.

Parties from the Cascade mountains with silver bearing rock, taken from ledges on the Natchess, a tributary of the Yakima river are confident that they have struck it rich. The quartz exhibited shows the glittering particles of silver by thousands, and is very valuable beyond a doubt. A rough assay gives results that show that it will pay for working, and were it tested by a competent assayer, with the requisite conveniences and tools would prove it very rich. Prospectors will stick to that country until something permanent is developed.

Our streets are crowded with teams and pack trains loaded for Idaho and Montana. Not a merchant in town but is busy supplying customers, and until the close of navigation we may expect a heavy trade at this point. A steamer comes daily to the levee loaded with freight, and extra steamers are running as the freight below accumulates faster than the daily boats can remove it.

DEPOPULATION OF THE SOUTH.—It is a startling fact that three fifths of the entire white male population of Alabama between the ages of 18 and 50, were killed or disabled in the war. Her case is probably no worse than that of her associates in the rebellion. Allowing for the recovery of a liberal percentage of the disabled, and the rebellious States still probably have not more than one half the able bodied white male population which they had in 1860. This is a terrible blow to Southern prosperity. So great a drain upon the active population of the States must exert a wide and baleful influence upon their future. Such waste of life presents the most serious phase of southern desolation. Southern exhaustion consequent upon the destruction of property and of all industrial interests, is of itself frightful to contemplate. Property can be accumulated again however by industry, and even the present utter dearth of capital can be overcome after a little while by moral courage and character. But what shall compensate for this tremendous loss of Southern vitality? Left to herself and unaided by emigration, Alabama could not in fifty years bring her population again up to the standard of 1860.

Land Wanted.

The Daily Oregonian.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 21, 1865.

Illness of the Editor will account for the absence of the usual editorial articles this morning.

The Daily Mail

The mail imbroglio between this city and Lincoln, Cal., is certainly an unpleasant case, but one which in due time will be settled no doubt, not to the advantage of the whole people interested and also to the Post Office Department of the Government, which must ultimately foot the bills. The California Stage Company originally took the contract of carrying the mails for ninety thousand dollars. This, be it recollected when the road was to be stocked. When the roads were in a much worse condition than at present, before the immense importance of our northern gold fields had been demonstrated, thus doubling the travel between Oregon and California. Owing to depreciation of legal tenders, the Company did not probably make much on the last year of their contract, though there is no reason to suppose they had lost. At any rate, at the termination of the contract, they knew to a dollar—for they had four year's experience—what the cost of running over the route amounted to, and by their own bid at a time when greenbacks were worth only fifty cents on the dollar, they again took it for two hundred thousand dollars a year. Now, when greenbacks are worth from 70 to 75 cents, they coolly ask Uncle Sam to shell out three hundred thousand a year, or reducing to coin rates, they had ninety thousand for the first contract, one hundred thousand for the second and this was all they asked, but now nothing short of two hundred and twenty thousand dollars will do them. The plain truth is this: the Mail Company imagined they had Uncle Sam in a tight place, and they thought they would squeeze him, but the good-natured old gentleman would not submit to the squeezing process, and in consequence, let the contract to Reside, but Reside faild to come to time, and then the Mail Company asked the modest sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars per day to carry the mails. Mr. Dennison very properly shut down on this arrangement, and now we must receive our mails by water. This, for the coming winter will be no great loss, for everything but the letter mails reached us last winter in a state of mulch. The truth is, that one hundred thousand dollars in coin is ample compensation for doing this work. The Mail Company, in our opinion, have no intention of withdrawing from the route, for they have recently reduced the fare for the purpose of tickling the good people on the route and to further the purpose of kicking up a breeze because the mails stop. In our opinion, there is not a particle of danger that the daily line will be permanently stopped. Uncle Sam is our good provider if we but treat him decently well. In our mind what ought to be done is as plain as a pike staff. Divide the route between Portland and Sacramento into three or four routes. One from Portland to Eugene, another from Eugene to Jacksonville or Yreka, another from Yreka to Shasta and the last from Shasta to Lincoln or Sacramento—then the bids would be in reach of companies of smaller means. Let this be done, and we venture the assertion that to carry the mails through will not cost over one hundred thousand dollars. Two of the companies will be Oregon companies and the gains will remain here. But at any rate stop growling at Uncle Sam's Postmaster General, because he refused to be gouged. The good people of this coast should remember that the expenditures of the Federal Government amount to five or six millions on this coast more than the receipts from all sources of revenue, and in consequence we should not unwarrantably grumble and take on ourselves gratuitously the character of common scolds.

Letter from La Grande.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

After a lapse of three months we again reached this valley yesterday, and was surprised at the favorable change it had undergone during our absence. At Union we found a large flouring mill, the appearance of which is equal to the best mills in other parts of the State, and reflects credit not only on the proprietors, Reynolds & Baker, but also upon the architects who erected it.

We found the harvest almost gathered, and which has proven an abundant one. Many of the farmers are making extensive improvements, and operating on a liberal scale. Mr. S. G. French, on the east side of the valley, has more than a thousand acres improved, and had a heavy yield of grain from several hundred acres the present season. At this point has been recently erected a steam flouring mill, which will be ready for operation so soon as the wheat is gathered and thrashed. Business is lively here, and prospects for further improvement is fair. Several wholesale merchants from Umatilla purpose removing their stocks to this point, which will still increase the wholesale business already extensively carried on here. The opinion is gaining ground daily that Grand Ronde is one of the permanent institutions of the age, and not the creature of a day, as some short-sighted, and still shorter witted, philosophers have predicted.

Forty miles to the westward from here on the Blue Mountains and adjacent to Grand Ronde river have recently been discovered extensive ledges of rich silver-bearing quartz, whilst to the eastward the same distance is Eagle District with a prospective destiny for mineral wealth that defies successful rivalry, all of which foreshadow a high order of prosperity for the agricultural interests of this locality. People here seem to take a common sense view of matters and things in general, and are in favor of encouraging the interests of Portland as a base of supplies for merchandise, and have ceased to consider the demand of the O. S. N. Company in the light of "extortions" and in "sparring exactions."

We shall return to Eagle City in a few days, and, at our earliest leisure will chronicle and forward you any new developments or items of interest that may have come to the surface since our departure therefrom.

COMPLAINS.—One of the Copperhead papers of this State says that "Democrats" are willing to associate with loyal men, but complains that loyal and respectable people will not be familiar with secession Democrats. We must be pardoned for allowing that this is far nearer the truth than most of the other charges are which Copperheads make. A long time ago we read of a certain offensive digitigrade animal that sought the society of a lion. The lion begged to be excused from the contamination of such companionship. In like manner patriotic people decline the proffered intimacy of the secession wing of the "Democratic" party, for the reason that its members are not fit to be associated with. These fellows wish to be familiar with loyal men, not from any desire to be neighborly or charitable, but because they want to associate with their betters, as people of groveling instincts always do.

EFFECT OF EMANCIPATION.—We find the following in the Louisville Journal: On Saturday we had quite a full conversation with Captain Sturgeon, now of St. Louis, and well remembered here as a most popular and intelligent steamboat commander upon the Western waters. We inquired of him as to the effect of slave emancipation in his State. He answered: "The effect has been like magic, since it became certain that the slaves were about to be emancipated, and especially since they were actually and formally emancipated, lands throughout Missouri have more than doubled in value, and all the counties in the State are literally swarming with immigrants seeking homes. We never saw anything like it before." Captain Sturgeon added: "If you adopt the Amendment you will see the same result in Kentucky."

The Journal adds:

And we have not a doubt of it. Kentucky is richer in soil and finer in climate than any State contiguous to her, and let her but wash the one black plague spot from her robes and she will inhale strength from every gale and drink it from every stream and fountain. The prize of greatness and power is proffered to her to-day; it is held up within half an arm's length of her, where she can grasp it if she will; and if she let the occasion pass unimproved soon and most bitterly will she rue her own folly and perversity.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 17.

H. V. Johnson and A. H. Stephens.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia returned to Washington to-day from a visit to A. H. Stephens at Fort Warren. He spent last Friday with Stephens, and reports him in ordinary health and as comfortably situated as any one can be in confinement. He has the freedom of the Ward House to receive visitors or friends. His brother, S. J. Stephens, who accompanied Johnson to Fort Warren, remains there still and is permitted to sleep in his brother's apartments. Stephens will probably not be pardoned until the question of reconstruction is practically settled by admission of representatives from the Southern States.

Detectives Rewarded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Special dispatches say that the parties entitled to be rewarded for the capture of those engaged in the assassination of the late President Lincoln, have had their claims settled by the War Department. It is understood their names will be made public shortly.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Promotion of officers conspicuous in bringing the conspirators to justice, have been made out and are waiting the signature of the Secretary of War, who is now absent from the city.

Col. Brown, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen for the State of Virginia, reports to General Howard from Richmond, that he has reason to believe that the fears recently expressed by a number of citizens of Virginia of insurrection by the freedmen of that State, are entirely groundless. Gen. Terry has so disposed of his troops throughout the State, as to enable him to effectually squelch any attempt of the kind by negroes.

Troubles in South Carolina—Whites and Blacks Disarmed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17th.—The Herald's Charleston correspondent of the 13th says, that in consequence of the trouble between the planters and freedmen—the former complaining of disregard of contracts on the part of the latter, the negroes charging the employers with injustice and cruel treatment, Gen. Bennett, temporarily in command of Charleston District, has issued an order requiring both whites and blacks to give up all the arms in their possession. The old pro-slavery and secession spirit was expected to show itself in the State Convention. Some of the delegates were congratulating themselves in the belief that slavery was not yet dead.

The Alabama Convention.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 15th.—The Committee to whom the question was referred reported to-day, the slavery ordinance substantially such as that adopted by Mississippi. In Convention Mr. White offered a substitute, when both were postponed till Monday, when the debates will commence. The Committee reported on the secession ordinance, there being both a majority and a minority report, the former similar to that adopted by the Mississippi Convention. The consideration of these reports was postponed till to-day, when the report is expected. We shall have very animated debates next week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17th.—No action will be taken by the Executive Department on the Mississippi amended Constitution recently received and all others that may be sent hither from the South, than to communicate them to Congress.

The Indian Council.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 15.—The remainder of the loyal Cherokees and also the rebel Seminoles signed the treaty. The other delegations asked further time, but gave assurance that they would all sign the treaty. There seems to be a perfect reconciliation among all the tribes except the Cherokees.

General Harney will attend the Bluff creek Council on the 4th of October, instead of Col. Parker.

Troops Mustered Out.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17th.—The total number of troops mustered out under orders from the War Department Aug 14th, was twenty nine thousand. Of this number, 6,000 were from the Middle Department; 8,000 from Washington; 5,000 from Kentucky; 8,000 from North Carolina and 2,000 from Mississippi. The order dated the 5th of the present month directs the mustering out of another large body of troops, which number about 40,000, 20,000 of whom are colored troops raised in the North.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A special meeting of the Masonic fraternity, which was very largely attended, was held in Buenos Ayres in July in honor of the memory of President Lincoln.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says: The friends of the rebel ex-General Early are making vigorous efforts to secure his pardon.

Destructive Fire at Augusta, Me.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 17.—The most destructive fire that has ever occurred in Maine swept through this city this morning. The entire business portion of the city, extending from the passenger bridge to Winthrop street and from the river to above the railroad track, is in ruins. The fire broke out in a wooden building on Water street and spread rapidly in all directions. The utmost efforts of the firemen could only confine its destructive progress to the limits above mentioned. Every lawyer's office in the city, all the banks, two hotels, the post-office, express and telegraph offices, all the dry-goods, book and clothing stores in the city, the United States Quartermaster Commissary and Pension offices, the new depot, the Age newspaper office and many other buildings, in all numbering more than forty, occupied as places of business by more than one hundred individuals and firms, were burned. The banks succeeded in saving all their papers and treasure. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The losses cannot now be estimated, but cannot fall short of half a million.

Southern Planters Import Foreign Laborers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Tribune's Washington special dispatch says some of the original planters are directing attention to the importation of foreign laborers to conduct the department of agriculture. A gentleman in Charlotte, North Carolina, has introduced twenty-two Swedes as laborers, who have proved themselves patient, industrious and energetic, but some apprehensions are entertained lest the climate so far south may operate unfavorably on their health and powers of endurance.

The Alabama Convention Refuses to Repudiate the Confederate Debt.

MONTGOMERY, Sept. 15.—A test vote was taken this morning in the Convention, and it was decided 48 to 34 against the repudiation of the Confederate State debt.

From Mexico.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17th.—The Tribune's Matamoras correspondent under date of August 22d says: The term of office of President Juarez expires on the 30th of November next. Among the men of the Liberal party, General Ortega is said to be a very fit man for the place. At this crisis he will find himself beset with all sorts of wants, first among which is money.

The treasury and army chests are empty. His first care will be to fill them, then raise a foreign force of from ten to twenty thousand men, and at the same time a native army of from thirty to fifty thousand may be raised. The friends of the Liberal cause in the South are in hopes that Gen. Ortega has been able to do something in New York.

The same correspondent writing from Camargo, says that the Liberal force under order of Gen. Escambado has come to this place after sharp fighting with the enemy near the San Juan river resulting in a defeat to them of some consequence.

Gen. Escambado marched to attack a body of men escorting a conduct of specie going from Monterey in the direction of Matamoras.

The escort left the train at Cadvilla to march on Matamoras, where the officer in command was being attacked by a strong force of Liberals on the 16th. It was attacked by a column of 4,000 men whom Gen. Escambado detached from his camp. In the pursuit, the enemy were drawn upon the left bank of the San Juan river at a post called Paseo de Lucabias. His force consisted of about 8,000. After four hour's fight they were driven from the position and put to flight. They saved their artillery, and only a small body, which could not have exceeded 200 men, kept its order. Among the dead which remained on the field, was found the late rebel General Parsons and six of his men. One hundred and forty two prisoners were taken by the Liberal force, and car loads of arms, provisions and ammunition. One hundred stand of arms were gathered upon the field. The loss of the Liberal force was one commandant and six men killed, and two commandants, five officers and forty five men wounded. It is possible now for a large force to be gathered along the line of the San Juan river, as it is likely the force under Negrete will now come down to unite with them in and about here, in which case a force of 7,000 men could be concentrated. This would be strong enough for an attack upon the enemy at Matamoras. In these places a million and a half of dollars could be raised. With that, the Liberal Generals would have means to increase their forces and march on Vera Cruz and other points.

A Matamoras correspondent of the 25th says: We learn from a direct source that the forces under General Escambado amount to about 2,500 men, five hundred of whom are in Camargo. That place is at present the headquarters of the forces.

A party of twenty-one young men who had been in the United States in the late rebellion went up to Camargo yesterday among [illegible] and also and staff to serve as officers in the Liberal army. A legion of five thousand men could be easily raised for the cause. There is a want of ammunition felt by the forces in the North, they having only one hundred thousand rounds of cartridges and about five hundred thousand caps. This would give fifty rounds to each man, and there is a great deal of firing in Mexican warfare. A fight of seven hours duration would expend it. I have reason to believe that an attack will soon be made upon this place.

The Paraguay War.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Buenos Ayres journals contain some further very interesting items concerning the Paraguayan war.

There is said to be much apathy regarding it among the people of the Argentine Confederation, who are slow in joining the army. In order to stir them up Gen. Urquiza, formerly President, has issued a proclamation in which he says the contest against Paraguay is so sacred that he would go to join the legion on the field even if he should be deserted by his own children. Meantime the government has made arrangements for raising troops in Europe in order to drive the Paraguayans out of the Brazilian province of the Rio Grande.

The Emperor has ordered that every man in the province must be put under arms and 30,000 from other provinces must be moved at once and assist them.

President Lopez of Paraguay is displaying most extraordinary energy in his efforts to meet the assaults of the powers by which he is resisted. Every man and boy capable of service is being put in the army, and the necessary agricultural work is to be done by women.

It is thought that Lopez has an army of one hundred thousand men under arms. He is well supplied with material of excellent character.

THE [illegible] LINES.—We find in a New York cotemporary a tabular statement of the names of ships and other particulars showing for eighteen months past, how many of our vessels have changed owners, from Americans to Englishmen or other nations. The number is [illegible] vessels, 608, tonnage, 428,0[illegible]. The total carrying trade performed by steam vessels between this country and Europe is now in the hands of eight regular lines, running about [illegible] vessels, [illegible] of which flies the American flag. Not a single steamer has crossed the Atlantic during the past four years carrying the mails and passengers over which floated our flag. England, France, Bremen, Hamburg and even Sweden and Russia have been doing that work. Latest advices from New York, however, indicate that two American trans-Atlantic steamship enterprises are speedily to go into operation.

NO FOREIGN WAR.—The Washington correspondent of the Springfield, Mass., Republican writes as follows:

The big French war that certain hot heads were so sure of getting up over Maximilian does not appear above the horizon. We shall have no foreign war. If the Government is wise, we shall not draw the sword again in a quarter of a century. We have shown our power and what nation cares to fight us? With prudence, then we can at least have twenty years of peace. They will see us out of our present financial difficulties, for by that time the debt will have been half paid off. Mr. Seward still talks peacefully—and holds the reins.

Pope once engaged in an argument on an obscure line in Horace. A young officer asserted that a note of interrogation put at the end would make it clear. Pope, little, deformed and vexed, said: "Do you, sir, know what an interrogatory note is?" "Yes," was the answer, "it is a little crooked thing that asks a question."

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of those [illegible] by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Consultations FREE.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

TILLAMOOK BAY AND ITS SURROUNDINGS.—We have been considerably interested during the past few weeks in reports from Tillamook Bay. There is at this time a handsome new schooner, the J. C. [illegible] being [illegible] Knott's wharf for that section. The only means afforded the inhabitants of Tillamook to secure [illegible] is by small crafts, for which purpose the [illegible] has been specially constructed [illegible] is about to recompense her [illegible] She is under command of Capt. [illegible] in this port a cargo of butter [illegible] the products [illegible] farmers of the prairies in that section [illegible] are but a few hours until a return [illegible] for her principally of groceries [illegible] engaged, which have arrived [illegible] the plains [illegible] being sent forward by the [illegible] to whom they belong [illegible] the [illegible] range, leading into the [illegible] North [illegible] near Panther creek. There will be [illegible] to themselves good [illegible] being a most lovely and secure harbor [illegible] small crafts. The land surrounding it is [illegible] church, fir, cedar and spruce [illegible] dividing [illegible] into three or four prairies, all of excellent fertility and well adapted to the purposes of [illegible] agricultural pursuits. The land is generally covered with a rank growth of [illegible] at the [illegible] of which the [illegible] grass is found at all seasons of the year [illegible] stock without any special care. Three streams enter the bay from the coast range of mountains, which, besides the tide sloughs, furnish an abundance of water for all purposes of stock growing, irrigating, etc. [illegible] from Tillamook Bay is Tush Bay, where the most excellent oysters and fish abound. At this season, and a little later, brant, ducks and geese [illegible] obtained in any desired quantity, and the woods are filled with bear, deer, elk, etc. Tillamook prairie is about ten miles in length by one and a half in width; [illegible] Prairie and South Prairie are not so large. At present the section is but sparsely settled. The inhabitants [illegible] get a mail the coming winter to be carried by an [illegible] the [illegible] or from this valley [illegible] horseback by the [illegible] the lumber used in constructing the [illegible] was nearly all made by whip sawing, but now a saw mill is about to be taken to Tillamook that will enable the people to have what lumber they may want to use in building [illegible] The farmers there would turn their attention to raising grain if they had better facilities for getting to market. By the Panther creek trail South [illegible] is about seventy miles from Portland.

[illegible] FESTIVAL.—This is the first day of the year [illegible] upon which the Jewish people all and alike [illegible] the world celebrate a national festival and [illegible] of worship. Last evening ushered in the new year, and the Congregation Beth Israel in this city [illegible] with young and old, the parent and the child, the citizen and the stranger, eager to offer their prayers and their thanks at the shrine of that God in the belief of whom and fidelity to whose law this people have found the secret of preservation [illegible] though suffering hated persecution [illegible] broken as it were into atoms and scattered among [illegible] of the earth, among the most barbarous and [illegible] they have throughout thousands of [illegible] "common features, habits, observances [illegible] literature and [illegible] language" [illegible] the dearest ties of home and [illegible] sundered, their sacred rites forbidden [illegible] their unity, and to-day without [illegible] head or center, they have their place [illegible] of the earth, adding daily to the learning and the wealth of the world. With the [illegible] to-day as they observed when as a nation [illegible] people they stood at the foot of Sinai [illegible] cloud wreathed prophet, the oracle of their [illegible] God of the universe, they were assembled [illegible] under more [illegible] circumstances—breath[illegible] air of liberty, enjoying the fruits of their [illegible] by the thrall of arbitrary rulers. The service was impressive and rendered very beautiful [illegible] devotion of the congregation and the music [illegible] of male voices. We were deeply [illegible] the ceremonies, and have only to add our [illegible] good wishes to our Hebrew fellow-citizens. [illegible] Holidays of the New Year conclude on Sat[illegible] are succeeded on the 30th inst. by the [illegible] Day of Atonement. The year is an ordinary year, containing 354 days, and ends on [illegible] 9th, 1866. All places of business [illegible] controlled by Jewish people will be closed for [illegible] three days, as the case may be.

[illegible] SIDE OF LIFE.—The young unfortunate—Henrietta [illegible] whose case we have before alluded to; [illegible] before Recorder Hoffman yesterday [illegible] to several days imprisonment in consequence of having been picked up by the police on the [illegible] in the most beastly state of intoxication. What [illegible] horrible can be depicted in imagination, than [illegible] picture on the dark side of life in a wealthy city [illegible] more inhabitants than the city of Portland to [illegible] Henrietta Anderson is a young [illegible] should judge from her app[illegible] not yet twenty [illegible] age—living the life of a cast off, hopelessly ruined [illegible] Abandoned by her seducers, without a friend [illegible] world, she is subjected to the most unparalleled [illegible] from heartless wretches, [illegible] to wander in [illegible] without protection or shelter from any one [illegible] should be deranged is not much wonder—and [illegible] there can be but little doubt, yet the [illegible] spared from supporting her at the Asylum [illegible] and the poor creature [illegible] to the out a most miserable existence, [illegible] the lives of citizens whenever she has [illegible] as she has done on two [illegible] at random in the streets. If there are any [illegible] in Portland, let them see that this [illegible] a place at the Asylum, or the Hospital, [illegible] for her welfare. She has no means of support, and it is nothing more or less than criminal [illegible] the part of those in authority not to see [illegible] and her destroyers punished.

[illegible] DECISION.—The negro Wil[illegible] committed to the County Jail on the 20th inst., for one year, by Recorder Hoffman [illegible] of the Peace, was taken from jail yesterday [illegible] of habeas corpus, which was tried before [illegible] of the Circuit Court, sitting at chambers. [illegible] argued were that the Recorder of the [illegible] has not authority under the constitution [illegible] to receive, administer oaths upon, [illegible] alleged to have been com[illegible] the laws of the State, because no such [illegible] Justice of the Peace for the city of Portland [illegible] the law. [illegible] certified copy [illegible] in Justices Court is [illegible] to hold a [illegible] in custody [illegible] other [illegible] those were raised, but the Court [illegible] the writ, holding that the Recorder has [illegible] the constitution so to act, and that a certificate of the entry of a judgment so rendered was [illegible] Franklin was remanded to [illegible] of his term of sentence. The decision [illegible]

[illegible] go to the [illegible] camp and [illegible] speak kindly, and impart needed [illegible] of cheer, and if need be, ex[illegible] that will repay it a hundred fold [illegible] and [illegible] through [illegible] in reaching this land, and [illegible] the first year. Whatsoever ye would [illegible] do ye even so unto them [illegible] of the P. C. AA [illegible] on the arrival of the [illegible] an elderly gentleman [illegible] by a rough [illegible] who [illegible] the poor emigrant. We are informed [illegible] is practised by a class of runners, which is [illegible] The needless [illegible] that old man on Monday evening because [illegible] the new comers for his own benefit [illegible] to be something rotten somewhere.

[illegible] WORK.—Messrs. W. F. Cooper & Co. have just [illegible] a fine sulkey for Capt. Van Ber[illegible] by "Emigrant" at the coming State Fair [illegible] before painting was 80½ pounds [illegible] with oak seat and steel finishing [illegible] turned out at some of the finest carriage [illegible] in the [illegible] States, and profess at the same [illegible] anything ourselves about buggies, etc. [illegible] any town or city on American soil to turn out any better work than Cooper & Co. have done on this [illegible] with all they do.

[illegible] LINE.—The Sierra Nevada will be the last steamer [illegible] at least for some time, leaving this port for San Francisco via Victoria. On the arrival of the Active from below all steamers will run direct to and from Portland and San Francisco, the Victoria trade being left wholly to the Active.

[illegible] NUISANCES.—The removal of the planking [illegible] streets for the purpose of putting in sewers [illegible] a bad state of things, which practically accounts [illegible] of the inhabitants of this city. The [illegible] from Washington and Stark streets alone [illegible] enough to create a pestilence.

[illegible] CABLE.—Superintendent Haines arrived [illegible] a few days since and yesterday proceeded to lay a new telegraph cable across the river at this city, to take the place of the wire at present suspended from the mast below the gas works.

[illegible] LYCEUM.—The young men attending the [illegible] in this city, propose establishing a literary society in connection with their studies. This is in accordance with previous custom, and will be a valuable [illegible] to the students [illegible]

THE ALBATRIS.—Capt. [illegible] advertises for San Francisco direct, leaving in [illegible] of the Active on Monday morning at [illegible] o'clock. He will take passengers and freight offered between this and Saturday evening.

[illegible].—The flow of bullion from the upper country is uninterrupted. The sales of the bulk for the past week, arriving by Wells, Fargo & Co., is not far from $100,000.

RAIN AGAIN.—Alas, the frailty of human calculations. Our pleasant days were badly interrupted yesterday by a visitation from the clouds of heavy drops of rain.

Our friend Clark, who has been rusticating in Idaho and writing to the Oregonian during the present summer, returned to Owyhee last week from a tour through the Basin, Yuba and South Boise. He evidently has quartz on the brain. He came down the Jordan one day this week with a gunnysack of Owyhee specimens. In all we should think he had something near a ton. He looked tired, but very confident. As far as we have read his [illegible] evidence, it is a very fair account of the Upper Country.—Owyhee Avalanche, [illegible] 9th.

To Irishmen

[illegible]

The Fenian Meeting.—At a called meeting of the friends of [illegible] the Fenian Brotherhood [illegible] the meeting was called to order by [illegible] Maguire [illegible] was chosen President, and J. H. Egan Secretary. The Chairman explained the cause of the meeting [illegible] by J. H. Eagan. The following resolutions proposed by Mr. Egan were adopted:

Resolved, [illegible]

Resolved, That an auxiliary treasurer [illegible] will take charge of the funds [illegible] the central treasurer in New York City.

Resolved, That the State [illegible] agents [illegible] the above object, and pay the sum to the Auxiliary Treasurer.

S. J. McCormick was then called upon to address the meeting, whereupon he made a commencement [illegible] O. C. Newell [illegible] $100 in coin [illegible] thanks was given to Mr. Newell, after which Mr. McCormick made a telling speech.

Mr. Holbrook was then loudly called for, who came forward and spoke the sentiment of America on the subject of Ireland's wrongs.

W. S. Ladd, Esq., was elected Auxiliary Treasurer, to take charge of the funds [illegible] of the Central Treasurer in New York.

An article of agreement was then presented for subscription [illegible] Mr. P. O'Connell Newell, Milwaukie, heading the subscription with $100, being the first contribution toward the great cause of Irish freedom in Oregon.

Mr. Lumsden was then called, and recited some patriotic verses of his own composition, written for the occasion, which were loudly applauded.

Mr. Shaughnessy was then called for, and came forward and made a few pithy remarks. It was then resolved that the proceedings be published in the DAILY OREGONIAN, when the meeting adjourned.

W. [illegible] BUTLER, President.
J. H. EGAN, Secretary.

QUERY.—Which is the meanest [illegible] those who steal a daily paper from his neighbor, or [illegible] subscribe for himself and then refuse to pay the carrier?

A New York reporter, in giving an account of the burning of Barnum's Museum, speaking of the exit, says:

The giantess came first, soared out of half her growth, and then a giantess holding aloft her dabbled skirts to the exposure of a foot like one of Drake's Plantation rocks, and in her tremendous fist clasping a crown of glass diamonds and emeralds. Her huge eyes were almost colorless with terror, she went down Ann street like one of the chimneys promenading.

FROM BLACKFOOT.—A party of seven or eight miners arrived here direct from Blackfoot this week. They came down after provisions, and report that unless supplies are transported into the mines very rapidly the people there will experience "starvation times" this winter in a worse degree than the miners did at Kootenai last February and March. They came by the Elk City route and saw nothing of the pack trains on the road to the mines. None of the goods had arrived in the mines from the steamers on the Missouri when the party left.—Walla Walla Statesman, Sept. 1st.

SOZODONT.—An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the Sozodont possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

WISTAR'S BALSAM
—OF—

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure [illegible] exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

The Bulletin's editorial correspondent writing from New York gives the following interesting account of the aims and mistakes of those who began the great rebellion:

Hon Isaac [illegible] Holmes, once an influential member of Congress from South Carolina and subsequently for some time a [illegible] Confederate [illegible], is now in Washington, lying upon what will probably prove his death bed. This gentleman was one of the few among the slaveholding aristocrats who [illegible] South Carolina had the good sense and sagacity to foresee the terrible consequences of rebellion and therefore exerted themselves to the utmost before the war broke out to prevent the falling of the fatal "first blow." A reminiscence of the spring of 1861 with which Mr. Holmes's name is connected, is well worth recalling at this time, when what he predicted in it but a few years ago has become prophecy fulfilled. Soon after Mr. Lincoln's first proclamation Mr. Holmes came to Washington for the purpose of aiding in efforts to allay the fierce agitation then existing, and to prevent, if possible, the threatened collision of arms. At the earnest solicitation of Mr. Seward he returned to Charleston to urge upon his friends there the necessity of calmness and deliberation, and abstention from any act which should inaugurate hostilities. Especially did he urge that the threatened attack upon Fort Sumter should not be made, assuring his friends that the first gun fired against that work would usher in a bloody war ruinous to slavery, destructive of Southern interests and disastrous to the whole country. Mutual conciliation and forbearance it was hoped might yet open a door to the adjustment of differences between the two sections and bring the South to the conviction of its duty in acquiescence in the constitutional election of Mr. Lincoln.

But all these efforts were vain. The warnings of Mr. Holmes were received with derision. Those to whom his appeal was addressed assured him that Beauregard had already fixed the day on which he would open fire on Sumter, and that so far from inaugurating war, the capture of that stronghold by South Carolina troops would put an end at once and forever to all possibility of a war and secure peaceable acquiescence in secession by breaking up the old Government and leaving the Northern States in political chaos. It seems inconceivable that so great a delusion could have seized upon Southern men; nevertheless the fact is beyond reasonable question. The secession leaders in their thirty odd years of schooling the South into the idea that Northern men were spiritless cowards, had come themselves to believe that the North would yield any and everything rather than fight for a day. Mr. Holmes and those who acted with him, found it useless to combat this idea. Those who conceded his patriotism and sincerity even told him that he had been so much in the North of late years that he had become Yankeeized, and that his judgment on the pending issue and its consequences was not to be trusted. He could only assure without convincing them, that if they fired on Fort Sumter the North would unite as one man in vindication of the flag, and so far from conceding secession would trample out the supposed interests in which a Slave Empire was designed to be established.

But all was to no purpose. The secessionists of South Carolina declared that when they should degrade the flag by firing upon it, the act would unite the South, and shiver the North into fragments. Roger A. Pryor was then in Charleston assuring the leaders that if they did not take Fort Sumter, Virginia would refuse to secede, and that the blow was essential in order to make the secession movement an immediate and definite success. George N. Sanders, fresh from notorious and intimate association with the acknowledged leaders of the Northern Democracy, had convinced the nullifiers that whenever the South should strike a blow the Democratic party of the North would split the Government into fragments. It was never doubted for a moment that the Democracy of New York State alone would be able to effect this result; and then the new Southern Government, with Slavery as its corner stone, was expected to gather to itself the Empire State and every other which should be prepared to accept the supremacy of Southern pro-slavery ideas. The distinguished South Carolina lawyer, John L. Pettigrew, labored with Boyce, Holmes, Aiken and a few others, to dispel this illusion, to convince their fellow citizens that the battle for "Southern Rights" must be successful, if anywhere, inside the Federal Union, and that the moment they should enter upon rebellion against the Government, their real grievances would be intensified and their imaginary ones become real. But their efforts were in vain. They realized at last that the war must come, and resigned themselves to the acceptance of their share of its woes. Let no man doubt the prevalence of the delusion which I have thus described. Our testimony to the fact is beyond dispute. Even Jeff. Davis had not given up his expectation of success, by means of Northern defection, as late as the occasion of Chaplain Jacques' visit to him in Richmond, as is apparent from the conversation between those parties. Prominent Charlestonians who have been to Washington since the war closed—men who were earnest secessionists, as well as those who openly opposed the movement—testify that in the evening subsequent to the fall of Fort Sumter, a public meeting was held in that city, at which the orators unequivocally declared that the last gun had been fired that would ever be necessary in vindication of the right of secession—and they fully believed it, and rejoiced over the solacing conviction. This interesting fact has been frequently stated before, and always denied, but its accuracy is now placed beyond question, by the testimony of the South Carolinians above named.

The same blindness which so fatally controlled South Carolina extended to the newly-organized Confederate Government at Montgomery. When the Northern States did not launch themselves at once upon the sea of Disunion, the Montgomery magnates concluded that a little money was needed to "grease the ways." Surely, the North would not fight! But her people loved money, and it was deemed prudent to provide a little to fee a "hireling press" to make and lead a public sentiment in favor of positive sympathy with the cause. Accordingly, half a million dollars was raised and placed in Jake Thompson's hands, with which he repaired to Canada, expecting thence to foment sedition in the North and effect the utter breaking down of the Washington Government. Finally, the scheme was narrowed down to that of getting up a revolution against the Government in the North-west. Time and again during the war we had abundant evidence that organized effort was making in the North western States to create disaffection there in the interest of the rebel government. The trial and conviction in Indiana of various parties connected with secret political orders founded in treasonable hostility to the United States Government fully disclosed some of the effects of these movements to secure rebel success by means of dissension in the free States. It has been fully believed for a year past that these treasonable movements were directly influenced from the South, and were not spontaneous. That, however, was sometimes disputed; but I am able now to assure your readers upon testimony of honorable men who were behind the rebel scenes, that these suspicions were well grounded, and that Jake Thompson was the accredited fiscal agent of the Confederate Government to expend money for the express purpose of exciting a Northern question in favor of the rebellion.

It will be remembered that when Mr Lincoln's proclamation of April 15, 1861, calling out 75,000 militia to sustain the Government and enforce the laws, was received at Montgomery, we were told that it was received with shouts of derisive laughter by the Confederate Congress then assembled, that the secession leaders hooted at the idea that 75,000 Northern men should be considered competent to the task of suppressing the rebellion. This supposed nonchalance of the Montgomery government used to be employed as an argument to prove that the South fully understood, before striking a blow, that they had a herculean task before them and had prepared to accept the worst. This is not true. Not one of those who originally precipitated actual secession believed for a moment that it would cost them anything more than the exercise of a little boldness and defiance, such as used to give them preponderating influence in national legislation. There was a laugh of derision at Montgomery when the Lincoln call for 75,000 men was received there, it is true, but [illegible] men who were present as members of the Congress [illegible] the mirth was excited by the reflection that Mr Lincoln should for a moment suppose that 75,000 fighting men could be raised in all the North! Not a man of them believed such a thing to be within the range of possibility. If the Montgomery Congress had supposed, up to that time that any such number of reliable volunteers could be enrolled to oppress the rebellion its members would have been appalled by the prospect and more cautious in committing themselves so far. As another fact illustrating their delusion at that time Mr. [illegible] states that [illegible] the Montgomery Congress could be induced to authorize the purchase of 1,000 stand of arms with which to sustain secession. It was argued that the South had already an equal number placed at their disposal by Secretary Floyd, while a member of Mr. Buchanan's Cabinet, and these were really thought to be more than ever would be required to insure Confederate success.

These several statements of fact, besides being interesting as reminiscences of a most eventful period in our National History, are important because they confirm the conviction that our National Unity will be more perfect in the future than it was in the past. [illegible] South have been classed as among the highest of moral attributes. The man who will not fight, if occasion requires it in defense of his rights or in vindication of what he considers his present honor is looked upon by the veriest clay eater of North Carolina, or the poorest "white trash" of Virginia, as beneath contempt. No amount of chastity, honesty, education or local popularity without physical courage and high spirit, can save a man in the South from being looked down upon as an inferior and degraded being. Under these circumstances it is not surprising that the South, led to the war, failed to respect the North, which it had also been taught to believe devoid of spirit and manly courage. Where there is no spirit there can be no love, and in politics [illegible] where neither love nor respect is present the impatient intolerance of opposing sentiment, the party arrogating to itself all the superiority which courage claims as its right in the presence of cowardice [illegible] finds hate of [illegible] filling the place which belongs to tolerance. Thus it happens that the Southern masses fully believing their Northern brethren to be cowards, found it natural to hate them, to be restive under a growing Northern political preponderance and to undertake at last to break away from association with a nation of Pariahs. All this has changed. The South now knows the North to be its equal in courage, and its superior in resources and tenacity of purpose. Henceforth it will respect the North and recognize honor rather than humiliation in association with us. It will have learned toleration of Northern sentiment. And above all, it will never again seek in rebellion a redress of fancied grievances, under the delusion that it has only to show fight and have its way. In the light of such facts and suggestions as these, how absurd appear the arguments of those who claim that President Johnson's reconstruction policy must be defeated before Congress, lest otherwise the old secession element shall again obtain control in the South and precipitate a new rebellion.

There is no danger of future rebellion against the Government. It is barely possible that if the South generally returns old Secessionists to Congress, those may unite with Northern Copperheads to attempt repudiation of the public debt, and otherwise to embarrass the National Union Administration. In repudiation they can never succeed, unless we are a nation of knaves. They do not expect to succeed. What they do expect however is to employ the cry of repudiation in certain localities, and sympathy with the defunct rebellion in others to obtain control of patronage and power. When if ever, they obtain the power they will become "conservative," as the only means of retaining it. So there is no occasion to sustain permanent military government of subjected provinces—a real and serious evil—in apprehension of another evil, while there is no real danger.

J. W. S.

Killing Pigs by Steam.—They kill pigs by steam at Chicago. The engines deliver their noisy freight at warehouses. It is found best not to pack hogs and beeves together in railway traveling, as they have to be sifted and separated. The hogs go into square yards, and there they are left without food for twenty-four hours. Now they are free and independent pigs, and they do not take kindly to captivity. Some go to sleep and try to be quiet, but most of them spend their last hours in biting each other viciously. One without any apparent cause, takes the nearest neighbor by the hind leg and grunts savage defiance. The neighbor generally accepting, gives battle. The champions clash their jaws and smite their armed cheeks, howling and screaming and foaming, till one is vanquished, and then he charges over the lazy sleepers, and each downtrodden hog howls. The victor growls content for a time but the battle breaks out anew at unexpected places, and the end of the prairie hog is not peace. One spotted brute in particular seemed to be furious or ravenous, and bent upon eating somebody, for he kept charging open mouthed at distant dreaming hogs, trampling on everybody, and biting viciously at ears, tails and legs, and everything that came in its way. But the hour of execution was at hand. It was the first day of some new machinery, and it took time to get it into gear. On the upper story of the building were the executioners. They were tall, well-grown men, chiefly Germans, probably used to sausages at home. They were dressed for their work in sailors water proofs, leggings and frock, and each armed with some deadly weapon and a steel. To while away the time while they chatted pleasantly they whetted their knives and felt the edge, and as they felt they smiled.

At one end of the building was a large trough, in which a steam-pipe heated water to the scalding point. The grand invention, which was to work for the first time that day, was a great iron claw which dipped under water and rose again like an iron hand with five fingers. It was meant to hook out the pigs which were quartering down stairs in the pen. Below this iron hand was a long sloping table, and at the foot of it was a gibbet, with hooks and turn-tables, wheels and rails, for shunting split pigs across the rafters. When the steam power has been applied to the wrist of the iron hand, a signal was given and the spectators scrambled out of the way, up the rafters, and anywhere. Outside, a door was opened in the long pen below, and a certain number were driven into a passage and up an inclined plane, where they stood quarreling to the very last. The top door was opened, and two small pens were filled with combatants. Their battles were nearly done. A sweet-smiling, rosy, dandy new hand, a youth in yellow leggins, and armed with a hammer, stepped in among them, and dead silence followed him. A hatch like a rat trap, rose up, a fat body slid down by way of rollers, and plumped into the tub, and a second followed—plump. The two scalders now stirred the pot, and finally pushed a pig into the iron hand. It turned its wrist and emptied the handful on the table. Another followed, and yet another; and the stream of pork, once set agoing, flowed on. Out of the prairie, the pigs drove at railway speed into the hog-pen. Out of the pen they walked up stairs, quarrelsome live pigs, and fifty were dead, scalded, scraped cleaned, split bacon and hung in rows ready for salting, within an hour. Within a few days they would be food for soldiers and sinews of war. After the first few hitches the whole machine works like a clock. Wishing to retain the power of eating pork, says the author of the above, no more Chicago [illegible] of this kind were visited.

The National Securities.—There appears to be considerable opposition in some of the Eastern States to the decision of the Supreme Court exempting National securities from State or local taxation, and predictions have been uttered by those who are not suspected of a very warm attachment to the Government, in effect, that the National debt will be repudiated in consequence of such exemption. These predictions, however, are but the idle vaporings of unscrupulous partisans. When in its extremity, the Government appealed to the people for the means of carrying on the war it was deemed prudent to place its securities in the most favorable position possible, and to silence in advance all the objections that could be made against them. Congress therefore embodied expressly in the loan bill a provision which only carried out the law as expounded by Judge Marshall and the entire bench. There have been times during the war when it might have been exceedingly embarrassing to the public finances, perhaps fatal to them, if some of the State Legislatures had the power of taxing the Government securities. There are many very worthy men, shrewd financiers and staunch supporters of the Government, it is true, who regard the placing of so large an amount of public securities beyond the reach of taxation as a great misfortune—men who believed, at the time, that it would have been wiser to make the loans subject to local taxation, up to a certain rate, but it was the judgment of those especially entrusted with the finances and of the best counsellors with whom they advised, that the provision was essential to the success of the loans. Whether this was so or not it is certain that Congress had the power to enact the law, and only within such limits as Congress might provide. It has been disingenuously asserted that the exemption is exclusively in favor of capitalists. This is not the case. The loan is subdivided into loans so small that the man of most moderate means—almost every man who can invest in a savings bank—can take advantage of it, and the immense number of purchases in sums of [illegible] shows that the people of small means were not slow to appreciate it. It makes the best possible investment for a poor man, and [illegible] the savings of honest industry. The New York Tribune says: "We happen to know one man who sold out a thriving store and three or four [illegible] farms, all the tangible property [illegible] had—and invested every dollar as fast as received, in the national loans. And his case is doubtless substantially that of thousands." It is a matter of surprise that the Legislature of such States as Connecticut and New Hampshire should attempt to tax income from National debt in defiance of an express stipulation of the Government. It cannot possibly succeed, but may perhaps have the effect to weaken the National credit, which it is the duty of all good citizens to sustain now just as it was their duty to sustain the National arms in crushing the rebellion. The vast accumulation of wealth, the almost inconceivable undeveloped resources of our broad domain, the indomitable energy and enterprise of the American people, the constant tide of immigration that is pouring in to share the blessings of free government, all contribute to a foundation of National credit and financial strength that will enable us to bear, with comparative ease, the heavy tax the war has imposed upon us and gradually to lighten the burden.—N. Y. [illegible] Bulletin.

Shut Your Mouth.—It is stated [illegible] men that one prolific cause of pulmonary disease is the habit of keeping the mouth open for the purpose of respiration when nature intended the nostrils solely for that purpose. Children ought [illegible] to stand or walk with their mouths [illegible] aside the vacant [illegible] nancy, it is the certain precursor of coughs [illegible] and sore throats.

Get Off That Stump.—Among the [illegible] rebel soldiers who came up on the steamer [illegible] on Tuesday, was a man a little [illegible] six feet high. He started out with the Missouri troops at the commencement of the war and stuck to them until the "dog was dead" and never received a scratch. Soon after he was mustered into the rebel service, the regiment to which he belonged appeared before the Colonel who prided himself on the fine appearance [illegible] size of his men, cast his eyes along the line with a smile of self satisfaction until they rested on the towering form of the tall Missourian, when he knit his brow and called out fiercely in thundering tones: "Get off that stump, you impertinent scoundrel, or I'll order you under arrest." The soldiers looked at each other wondering what the Colonel meant, but no one moved. Finding his authority treated with disrespect he fairly boiled with rage, and advancing to the big soldier he exclaimed: "What in the d—l are you standing on?" The soldier respectfully replied, "On my feet, Colonel." The Colonel was completely taken aback, and as he surveyed this tall specimen of humanity from head to foot in blank amazement he mumbled an apology for his rude remarks and hastened away, leaving his men convulsed with laughter. "Get off that stump" became a byword with the Missouri rebels and will no doubt live as long as the long Missourian.—[illegible] Democrat.

From Volcano District.—The news from Volcano district is of the most encouraging kind. Mr W. R. Defrees, who arrived there two weeks ago with his mill from Chicago, has already about twenty five men at work upon it with the intention to have it running in six or eight weeks. It is ten stamp, five hundred and twenty five pounds each, with splendid steam power for twenty, with two of Freiberg's six feet pans. It is located in Huntoon's, and will commence on one of the best ledges of the district. Mr. Defrees is one of the oldest and most experienced quartz miners, and so sure is he of the value of the Volcano mines that he intends to go back to Chicago next winter after a fifty stamp mill to erect in the following spring. Claim holders are beginning to look more cheerful there now, since there is soon to be an opportunity to prospect their ore by a practical working test. Volcano has been overlooked by buyers to a great extent, or if visited at all passed over in a hurry to visit localities that have made more noise in the community but are perhaps no more deserving. It was discovered late last summer by parties for the most part unable to develop its true character, but they have exercised good faith and effected some sales, of which the mill spoken of is one of the results. If the prospects we have from there do not prove entirely at fault Volcano will soon begin to force itself into notice.—Idaho Statesman.

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, including

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLOUR ALBUS,

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Its action is expectorant, alterative, sudorific, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system! THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
